The humpback whale is one of the rorquals, a family of whales that also includes the blue whale, fin whale, Bryde's whale, sei whale, and minke whale. Humpback whales are active, acrobatic whales. They can throw themselves completely out of the water and swim on their backs with both flippers in the air. One of the most unique talents of the humpback whale is their singing of long, complex songs. Interesting Factoid: Humpback whales feed on krill, small shrimp-like crustaceans, and various kinds of small fish. Each whale eats up to 1 and 1/2 tons of food a day.
